b. James

- i. Hi everyone, we just got back from No-Frills and have some unfortunate news. We did not win our bid for No-Frills 2016.
- ii. Here were some of the deciding factors for the boardroom. 1) "CSUMB would gain a lot as a school from this, in areas of growth"; 2) "UO hasn't had as many winning OTM's and Bids in the past as CSUMB, this shows dedication to the region on CSUMB's part and encourages future growth"; and 3) Location - this year's conference is in Oregon and they are in California. PACURH will be at WSU next year and to remain inclusive to the entire region having No-Frills in a California school made sense.
- iii. Comments during discussion mentioned how professional our bid and presentation were but they wanted to give Monterey Bay the chance to grow more as a school. CSUMB will be a great host and we are very happy for them. It also really helped that they had won bids and OTMs in the past. It's really frustrating for us because we really couldn't do much differently. Our presentation and bid were extremely well received. The PACURH advisor came up and said that our bid was one of the best bids he had ever seen.
- iv. Overall, thank you so much for committing to this project. We should be proud of the bid we put together and UO RHA is still committed to doing amazing things within this region.
- v. Also, ned won advisor of the year for PACURH. That means for all of the schools in our region, he won top advisor. BIG news, make sure to give him a congrats.
- vi. We were pretty upset last night; but honestly, this is a really great opportunity for CSUMB. They were very nice and respectful, and obviously, very excited to win. For whoever our reps are next year, they'll get to go to Monterey Bay, so it could be worse!
- vii. We're proud of how we represented the region. Our presentation went really well and our bid was well received. Q/A section went well too. If we had completely laid a goose egg up there, we would have felt terribly. It would have felt like we not only disappointed all of you but failed UO. And while we still feel disappointed, we delivered the presentation that we wanted and are proud of that.
- viii. Overall, we will use the feedback regarding OTM's as motivation. We will use the Pros and Cons laid out as history for if we ever bid again for a conference. And we will push recognition of our amazing student leaders as the year finishes. RHA has grown a ton internally and will continue to grow as the year finishes.
